COURSE DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVES:

This more advanced course builds on the different theories of and approaches to development revised in the introductory course to Development Studies (DEST 201). The course:

- ✓ will review the different basic frameworks and core notions of development as debate, with an interdisciplinary focus,
- ✓ will explore the different ethical and normative challenges to the conventional top-down development interventions, and the emergence and application of development models such as rights-based development, and people-centered or participatory development,
- ✓ will introduce important theoretical debates on development as it relates to human development, human rights and social justice,
- ✓ will discuss the issues of power and the loss of sovereignty, and the erosion of local cultural identities
- ✓ will review some international examples drawn principally from the so-called developing countries to understand how development theories and approaches are translated into practical application,
- ✓ will explore the role in development of key international organizations, such as the United Nations, the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund, as well as relief and development international Non-Governmental Organizations (INGOs).

By the end of the course, students will be able to:

- ✓ develop well-thought out arguments that support/challenge current development issues,

- ✓ demonstrate a clear understanding of the changing development context brought about by globalization and the different global anti-capitalist social movements,
- ✓ examine practical applications in the planning, implementation, and evaluation of development programs and projects.

The course is structured within approximately 12 weeks in a very compressed structure. The syllabus is extensive and the class time limited. In order to cover effectively all the issues discussed in the lectures, as well as in the different readings and assignments, there will be a series of in-class exercises during which specific development issues will be discussed. Your participation in lectures and especially in the in-class exercises is important both to your self-improvement and your partial and final grades.

ASSIGNMENTS AND EVALUATION:

This is a highly participatory and “hands on” course. You will write an annotated bibliography as part of an individual research report on a development project of your choice (project that is proven to be working well); you will work on and complete a Group Project Report including the creation of an International Development Non-Governmental Organization (INGO) and the planning of a development project to be carried out by your INGO, and participate in a series of in-class exercises.

COMPOSITION OF FINAL GRADE

Component	Due Date	Weight (%)
INDIVIDUAL Research Report (Projects that Work)	October 14	30
Research Report (In-Class Presentation)	October 14 - 30	10
FINAL Group Project Report	December 2	40
Project Report (In-Class Presentation)	December 2 & 4	10
In-Class Exercises	On-Going	10
Total		100

Notes: (1) All assignments must be completed or a course grade of F may be assigned at the discretion of the instructor.

(2) Due dates for all assignments are not negotiable.

(3) Assignments will not be accepted electronically.

The description of each one of the above course evaluation components is as follows:

INDIVIDUAL Research Report – Projects that Work:

This assignment will count for 40% of your final grade distributed as follows: 10% for the annotated bibliography component, 20% for the assessment report of a development project that is proven to be working effectively and efficiently in any developing country, and 10% for the in-class presentation of your report. The guidelines for this assignment will be posted on D2L around the third week of classes. The Report is due on October 14, 2014. Students will have to book a time (10 minutes) for the in-class presentation of their Individual Research Report. Dates reserved for this course component are from October 14 to October 30.

FINAL GROUP PROJECT REPORT: Creation of an INGO and Planning of a Development Project (Each Group will be conformed by four students)

A Group Project Report including the creation of an International Development Non-Governmental Organization (INGO) and the planning of a development project to be carried out by your INGO will be elaborated as a final assignment of the course; it will be submitted on December 2, 2014. This Project Report will count for 50% of the course grade distributed as follows: 10% Creation of an INGO, 30% Planning of a Development Project to be implemented by your INGO, and 10% for the in-class presentation of the overall Group Project Report on December 2 & 4, 2014. Details regarding the subject (s) and methodology for the Group Research Project will be discussed in class and posted on D2L four weeks before the due date.

It is the student's responsibility to organize and equally contribute to all group work. All members of a group are assigned a group grade except in situations where individual group members have not contributed equally to the research efforts in which case the instructor will evaluate the individual student's work. It will be at the instructor's discretion to attend to situations (and possible penalties) where some group members are not fully attending to their group responsibilities.

Since the research project in total will count for 50% of the final grade it will be important that students allocate time wisely and give significant attention to the project to ensure that they do well in the course.

In-class exercises

There will be an on-going series of in-class exercises around films shown in classes, guest lectures, and specific current global development issues introduced as part of the lectures and/or discussed in the weekly readings. These in-class exercises will count for 10% of the total grade.

Registrar-scheduled Final Examination: NO

Submission of Assignments

Please hand in your assignments directly to the instructor at class. If it is not possible to do so, a daytime drop box is available in ES 620. Assignments will be removed from the drop box and stamped with the CURRENT day's date, then placed in the instructor's mailbox. You are strongly advised not to leave your assignments in the instructor's office as this space is shared with other colleagues and papers can get misplaced.

Note: It is the student's responsibility to keep a copy of each submitted assignment.

Writing Skills

All assignments will be assessed at least partly on writing skills. Writing skills include not only surface correctness (grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, etc), but also general clarity and organization. All assignments must be properly documented following the APA Citation Format (if you need help with your writing, see <http://www.ucalgary.ca/ssc/writing-support>).

Policy for Late Assignments

Please be fully aware of the following policies regarding late completion of course assignments:

Assignments submitted after the deadline will be penalized with the loss of a grade (e.g.: A- to B+) for each day late.

You must provide advance notice to the instructor if you are unable to complete the group research project activities, to hand in your assignments, or to participate in the in-class-exercises. All requests for deferral of an assignment or any other class work due to health reasons must be accompanied by written documentation as outlined in the University Calendar and should be obtained while the student has the physical or emotional problem rather than after recovery. Travel arrangements, misreading of the syllabus, and scheduling conflicts with other classes or employment responsibilities are not valid reasons for requesting a deferred assignment or absence to an in-class exercise. Deferred assignments and permissions will not be granted if it is determined that just cause is not shown by the student.

The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy (FOIP)

Please include your name and ID number on all assignments. Assignments will be returned to students individually, during class, or during the instructor's office hours; if a student is unable to pick up her/his assignment, she/he may be prepared to provide picture ID to pick up assignments in ES 620 after classes have ended or during the instructor's office hours at the beginning of the next term. Personal information is collected in accordance with the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy (FOIP) Act. For more information, see <http://www.ucalgary.ca/secretariat/privacy>

(2) Final grades will not be posted by the Department of Anthropology. They will be available on your Student Centre after they have been reviewed and approved by the Department.

Research Ethics

Whenever you perform research with human participants (i.e. surveys, interviews, observation) as part of your university studies, you are responsible for following university research ethics guidelines. Your instructor must review and approve of your research plans and supervise your research. For more information about your research ethics responsibilities, see <http://arts.ucalgary.ca/research/research/research-ethics>

Plagiarism

Using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possibly suspension or expulsion from the university.

You must document not only direct quotations but also paraphrases and ideas where they appear in your text. A reference list at the end is insufficient by itself. Readers must be able to tell exactly where your words and ideas end and other people's words and ideas begin. Wording taken directly from a source must be enclosed within quotations marks. Paraphrased information must not follow the original wording and sentence structure with only slight word substitutions here and there. These requirements apply to all assignments and sources, including those in non-traditional formats such as Web pages or visual media. All assignments must be properly documented employing the APA Citation Format. There are several academic sites (i.e. Calgary, Cornell, Purdue, Toronto, Alberta, Simon Fraser) that can be consulted for examples about how to use the APA format. If you have questions about how to document sources, please consult your instructor or the Writing Centre (3rd Floor Taylor Digital Family Library or see <http://www.ucalgary.ca/ssc/writing-support>)

Internet and electronic communication device information

Cell phones, pagers, internet surfing, watching videos, playing computer games, checking E-mail, text messaging, and listening to music are disruptive to other students in class. Please be courteous to your classmates and Instructor and turn off all such devices before the class starts. Please refrain from using your cell phone during class.

Laptops/tablets can be used exclusively for the purposes of taking notes during class; however, permission to use laptops/tablets may be withdrawn if they are not used appropriately.
